Spiritual Spring Cleaning

After the long, cold winter we've had this year, I am really ready for spring. The longer days, blooming flowers, chirping birds ... it all sounds absolutely marvelous to me right now. It truly is a time of renewal.

Another element of spring that I don't enjoy quite as much is spring cleaning. I'm not a big fan of cleaning in general, however I do love it when everything is nice and neat and smells fresh and clean. So even though I'm not a fan of cleaning, I do it anyway.

This spring, I also intend to do a little spiritual housekeeping. It seems to me, as I'm dusting the cobwebs away, organizing things and finding, as my grandmother used to say, "A place for everything and everything in its place," that this is the ideal time to take stock of my spiritual life. "Am I living the way I truly want to? Am I focusing on the right things? Am I making God proud?" And, as Earth Day approaches, I have to ask myself, "Am I being a good steward of the earth?"

There is always more we can do to help the environment. During this season of spring, this time of renewal, take a moment and see what else you might be able to do to help our environment. There is a list of local Earth Day events on pages 12–13. And on page 14 is a very helpful guide to "Ways to Save the Earth Every Day." Feel free to tear it out and hang it on your fridge.

The Cathedral will celebrate Earth Day on April 28 this year. We'll pray for the earth, take home some handouts and goodies, and all of that is wonderful. But it's all just lip service unless we really decide in our hearts to make a change. So maybe you can pick a few things on that list on page 14 and try them out. Would switching to a reusable water bottle be a big inconvenience? Maybe you could try to take a shorter shower or turn off lights that aren't needed. If everyone took a few small steps toward a cleaner, healthier environment, the progress we would make would be truly amazing. Give it a shot, I promise it'll be worth the effort.

What Is Renewal for the Cathedral?

Renewal what is it? I mean, for the church. Is it like a magazine subscription that tells the publisher to keep sending the same publication for another time period? Without any other input from us? We pay our money, and the issues keep coming without any effort on our part beyond that. Or is it like urban renewal, often tearing down old buildings to make way for a parking garage? We watch as we drive by and bemoan what was once a thing of beauty and wonder why the past isn't still good enough.

Renewal for the church is neither of those ways of addressing the needs of people ... it's something else entirely. It's a quiet way of reflecting and pondering, a slow process of listening and testing, an intentional way of trying and living and deciding. It takes time, it takes ideas and energy, it takes making mistakes and having successes. And yes, it's about change and growth. Personal and corporate. Living and moving in the ambiguity of not having all the answers, sometimes not even knowing the questions.

Renewal takes all of us coming together giving our hearts and souls and living in such a way that what is changed and what is kept reveals the beauty of God's Kingdom that we strive to grow and share with others.

Mostly, however, it starts and ends with the most basic question of all, the question that always must be asked and answered in the church: Why? And if the answer isn't "because of Christ's claim on our lives to make disciples of all," then renewal—and anything else we do in the church—makes us no different from the Rotary Club, or a social service agency, or even the government. Good and important as they are, that isn't the church. In this issue of The Angelus, you will read of ways in which we are renewing, are being renewed, and living into the newness as well as the most familiar. I invite you to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest, as the Collect for Proper 28 reminds us each year. Doing so with a reflecting heart just might reveal an answer to the Why question, and when it does, you are part of our widening world of discipleship. Knowing why Grace & Holy Trinity Cathedral lives and moves in this wonderful city is an important gift to offer our new dean-to-come.

"It's a quiet way of reflecting and pondering, a slow process of listening and testing, an intentional way of trying and living and deciding."

Dean Search Committee Update

The Committee is working with the Vestry to finalize our portfolio with the Episcopal Church's Office of Transition Ministry (which will be used to match up with prospective candidates across the country), as well as our Parish Profile, which will be posted on the Cathedral's website when completed.

These documents should be finished by the first week of April, at which time we will start accepting applications for the position. Applications will be accepted through mid-May (though that might change depending on the response).

The Committee plans to review the applications on a rolling basis—evaluating them as they come in instead of waiting until the end of the application period before reviewing them.

If all goes to plan (God willing) with our vetting and interviews and prayerful consideration, we are still hopeful that the Vestry and the Bishop will be in a position to call a new Dean this summer.

As always, if you have any questions or concerns about the Committee's work, please don't hesitate to contact me or one of the members. Please continue to keep us in your prayers.

Birthday Gift Cards for Foster Children

Help a child in the foster care system by donating $25 for a birthday gift card. These gift cards are given to children who do not receive any other gifts to celebrate their birthdays. In the past we have donated 40 gift cards each year, but with the growing number of children in the system 40 gift cards are not enough anymore. Please consider this very special ministry of making children feel special on their birthdays. You may mail your donation to the office or place in the offering plate.

Spring Cleaning

I wouldn't say that I ever really enjoy housework, but there is something I appreciate about spring cleaning. It feels good to see the trees budding through clean windows and dusting off the mantel and bookshelves makes them more inviting places for vases of daffodils and lilacs. I sometimes even move the furniture around in my house, and swap out artwork or framed photos, just to get a fresh perspective on everyday items. Many of us have spring cleaning rituals for our home, but spring and more significantly, the 50 days of Easter, give us an opportunity to make some changes to our spiritual lives as well.

According to Reggie Joiner, author and family ministry leader, a church only has about forty hours in a given year to directly influence a child. An average parent has closer to 3,000 hours in the same year. So, home faith practices are an important part of a child's spiritual development. Some families use Lent as a time to engage in a spiritual discipline together. But don't despair if your family isn't doing this during Lent, you can start anytime!

Looking for ideas? Here's a list to get you started with some new home faith practices.

- buildfaith.org—From the Home Practices section of the site:

The "prayer sticks" activity from buildfaith.org.

When households practice faith at home, everyone can grow closer to God. Research shows that children and youth whose families participate in Christian conversations, Bible reading, traditions, and prayer are more likely to claim their faith as adults. Church leaders have a special role to play in encouraging and equipping families to connect Sunday worship with life at home. Building Faith's "Home Practices" are do-able, adaptable, fun, and meaningful. These activities can be used by households of all shapes and sizes, including singles, friends, couples, children, teens, and parents.

An Easter Candy Centerpiece, courtesy of catholicicing.com.

- catholicicing.com—This website is run by Lacy, a Catholic mother of four. She shares crafts, recipes, and fun ideas for celebrating the liturgical seasons (some ideas need to be adapted to fit our religious tradition). I like what she says about the 50 days of Easter:

Here's the thing- even though we wait for a whole 40 days to celebrate Easter, the Easter season lasts for 50 days! That's right- we get to celebrate for 10 whole more days than we wait! This entire Easter season is the perfect time to throw Easter parties, make Easter crafts with your kids (...), make yummy Easter treats (even in the shape of empty tombs!), do Easter projects with your kids, bake cookies in the shape of eggs, and on and on! You can seriously do these things all the way up to Pentecost!

devotionals 365 days a year

- d365.org—This site—and app—provides a daily devotion that is geared towards young people. The Episcopal Church is one of the sponsors of the site, and the writers come from a variety of backgrounds. I have the app on my phone and like that I can set a daily reminder to do the devotion.

Need some more ideas or have questions about home faith practices? Talk to me at church or contact me at childrensformation@kccathedral.org.

Children's Music Wrap-Up

Trinity Children's Choir

The choir year will soon end and these are the goals that guided our weekly rehearsals:

- matching pitches/in-tune singing
- healthy singing technique/ beautiful tones
- rhythm and note reading
- diction (clear vowels and consonants)
- relating music to worship themes learning parts of liturgy/hymns

Challenges this year have included:

- the weather and icy roads!
- flu bugs and sore throats
- wide age range of our singers

Music Time

Four, 5 and 6 year-olds were invited to gather after worship for singing, listening, playing instruments and moving to music with church friends.

Music in Children's Formation

During Advent and Lent, students gathered at Formation Opening time to learn portions of liturgy and hymns used in Sunday's worship.

Thank you to the families and children who have participated in GHTC's music ministry!

Volunteers Needed!

As you may have read in the 2018 Annual Report, the Cathedral needs over 1,700 total volunteers for the more than 170 services that take place each year. Because of this, we are always in need of new volunteers, but that is especially true this year, as we have a number of youth graduating and will lose several acolytes as a result.

Please prayerfully consider volunteering, or if you already volunteer, please consider if there's another role you might be willing to take on. Your help is greatly appreciated.

Contact Janet Sweeting, 816.474.8260 ext. 144 or jsweeting@kccathedral.org for more information about volunteering.

From the late Roman Empire, through the Middle Ages, down to the Reformation and into our own day, no institution has wielded such economic political and cultural power as the Christian church. And behind it all stands Jesus, a man who continues to be worshiped throughout the world by over a billion people today. Jesus of Nazareth is undoubtedly the most important figure in the history of western civilization. In December 2010, Fr. Thomas sat with Fr. Women's Bible Study

Luke for Everyone

Tuesdays

12:30–1:30 p.m. • Common Room

Women's Bible Study meets for an hour or so on Tuesdays at 12:30 p.m. in the Common Room. At the beginning of each session, members of the group read a passage from the current selected book or study guide and then see where the spirit takes them. Discussions are lively, thought-provoking, and often irreverent. All are welcome. If you have the inclination, but not the book—come anyway and someone will share!

The group is currently using Luke for Everyone by the Right Reverend N. T. Wright, Bishop of Durham (Church of England) as the inspiration for its weekly discussion. The book is available in the Cathedral Bookstore.

Treasurer's Report

	2019 YTD	2018 YTD
YTD
Income	$267,554	$317,811
Expenses	$284,987	$339,999
	-----	-----
Net Total	($17,433)	($22,188)

The year has started off with a lower than expected Pledge income along with an initial quarterly endowment payment below historical expectation due to the end-of-the-year stock market slump. Delayed billing for snow removal will push some seasonal expenses into March.

In this time of transition it is important that all parishioners prayerfully remember the role that our Cathedral plays in our spiritual lives and the lives of the needy within our city. Your generosity is key to keeping the Cathedral a vital community for all.

Noisy Offering

April 7

We will make a joyful noise to the Lord with our offering on this day! Bring an offering of coins to be donated to the New Americans program, which serves refugee children in Kansas City public schools. The Cathedral's children will assist the ushers in collecting the coins in metal buckets, so we can hear the funds add up. Don't keep coins around? No problem. Quiet checks and cash are welcome, too.

Treasures Tour

May 19 • 11:45 a.m.

Our last tour of the spring will be held on May 19 right after the 10:15 a.m. service. Thanks to those who have led or attended these short tours of our newly restored stained-glass windows! We'll schedule more tours this fall. If you have a suggestion for a future tour, or would like to lead a tour, please contact Julie Brogno.
